March 5, 2020

Position: Web Developer

Dear Hiring Manager,

Please accept my attached resume for the position of Web Developer, that was advertised on Indeed. I am writing to express my interest and enthusiasm for the position.

I am currently enrolled as a Full-time Student of the Computer Programmer Analyst diploma program of George Brown College, graduating on 17th of April 2020. My course highlights include: Systems Analysis, Software, Native Mobile and Web App development.

I offer:

- Experience in PHP, HTML5 and CSS, Javascript, NodeJS
- Ongoing experience with ReactJS and Angular development
- A solid foundation in OOP and MVC architecture
- A proven ability to build SQL queries
- Experience in Asp.net and Java Web App development
- Experience in Java and C# Software development
- Experience in IOS and Android development
- Experience in using code repositories like Github
- Punctual, diligent and team-player/leader

Why me:

- Flexible and client oriented
- Implementing code with the best practices in mind
- The willingness to learn
- Focused and independent continuous learner

Although my experience is not solely focused on your top 3 requirements, I believe that my broad knowledge with other computer language and frameworks will give me the advantage in this position in terms of solving problems and challenges such as implementing services and API's.

I would very much like to meet in person to share more of my qualifications or learn more about my experience in the field and your position needs. Please feel free to email me at mlilianyang@gmail.com.

Sincerely,

Maria Lilian Yang